The Color silver holds a special place in High Point Regional Hospitals history. During the 25th silver anniversary Gala, the Hospital was able to celebrate almost 110 years of service to our community. Last year, HPR served over 135,000 patients!

On behalf of the Hospital Board, I would like to begin by acknowledging the many volunteers who have contributed to the success of this gala. We are so fortunate to have such a dedicated group of individuals who work tirelessly to ensure the success of our events.

We are also grateful to our medical staff who provide the highest level of care to our patients. We are here today to honor the remarkable work that they do.

The Hospital Board is committed to maintaining the best and latest technology for our patients. We are proud to have invested in state-of-the-art technology to provide the highest level of care.

Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals, shared that the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients.

We also salute the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

"I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

"I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

On the video HPR President Jeff Miller added, "There are stories like these everyday at HPR, making them a trendsetter in robotic surgery."

"Dr. Barry Cheek, internation cardiology for the past 25 years at HPR added, "I have seen the technology change. It has helped our hospital... not only would the hospital probably not be here if it weren't for the generosity of our community but we wouldn't have been supplied with the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients."

We are so grateful for the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons. "I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

The 25th Silver Anniversary Gala for the Hospital Foundation celebrated the giving spirit of High Pointers. The honorary gala co-chairs, Marsha Shane and Elizabeth Aldridge, have been a part of the Hospital Foundation from the beginning. Elizabeth, with her husband Bill, led the initial effort to establish an endowment 25 years ago. Marsah was the first chair of the Gala Co-Chair along with Esther Culpepper (Ester R. Culpepper Women's Center) 25 years ago.

Although Marsha was unable to attend this year's event held at the High Point Country Club, she sent her message through the gala video, "I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala."

Twenty-five years is a long time and I have been a part of it since its inception as the first chair of special events.

Do you tell me what our hospital and our growth has been in Jack and Tanya Johnson, personally, I just don't know where to begin. To tell you what High Point Regional (HPR) means to us, we have to go back to the beginning. Elizabeth Aldridge with a baby girl. ... When the color silver holds a special place in High Point Regional Hospitals history. During the 25th silver anniversary Gala, the Hospital was able to celebrate almost 110 years of service to our community. Last year, HPR served over 135,000 patients!

On behalf of the Hospital Board, I would like to begin by acknowledging the many volunteers who have contributed to the success of this gala. We are so fortunate to have such a dedicated group of individuals who work tirelessly to ensure the success of our events.

We are also grateful to our medical staff who provide the highest level of care to our patients. We are here today to honor the remarkable work that they do.

The Hospital Board is committed to maintaining the best and latest technology for our patients. We are proud to have invested in state-of-the-art technology to provide the highest level of care.

Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals, shared that the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients.

We also salute the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

"I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

"I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

On the video HPR President Jeff Miller added, "There are stories like these everyday at HPR, making them a trendsetter in robotic surgery."

"Dr. Barry Cheek, internation cardiology for the past 25 years at HPR added, "I have seen the technology change. It has helped our hospital... not only would the hospital probably not be here if it weren't for the generosity of our community but we wouldn't have been supplied with the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients."

We are so grateful for the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons. "I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

"I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

On the video HPR President Jeff Miller added, "There are stories like these everyday at HPR, making them a trendsetter in robotic surgery."

"Dr. Barry Cheek, internation cardiology for the past 25 years at HPR added, "I have seen the technology change. It has helped our hospital... not only would the hospital probably not be here if it weren't for the generosity of our community but we wouldn't have been supplied with the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients."

We are so grateful for the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons. "I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

"I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.

On the video HPR President Jeff Miller added, "There are stories like these everyday at HPR, making them a trendsetter in robotic surgery."

"Dr. Barry Cheek, internation cardiology for the past 25 years at HPR added, "I have seen the technology change. It has helped our hospital... not only would the hospital probably not be here if it weren't for the generosity of our community but we wouldn't have been supplied with the technology we have to work with and that technology makes a big difference for our patients."

We are so grateful for the many patient testimonies beginning with "real time," Miller, who will be retiring after 25 years at HPR, took the podium and recounted the growth of the past 25 including many national recognitions. "It sounds like I am bragging but it is not. I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons. "I am over the moon to be a part of this Gala," said Dr. Barry Cheek, President of UNC Hospitals with his wife, Cindy, and Denise Potter, vice president of High Point Regional Foundation, with her husband, Steve, at the Hospital Foundation annual gala.

"I am very proud. I am very proud," she said. Her surgery at the highly esteemed and nationally recognized HPR made her heart a success and the sports mom is now back in the stethoscope for her sons.